Transportation takes center stage

CoTran hearing is held

A $779,988 federal grant being pursued by Palm Beach County would be used to replace four CoTran buses now serving the Belle Glade, Pahokee, South Bay, Lake Harbor, and Canal Point areas, and hopefully improve service between the Glades and the coast, said CoTran Resident Manager Irving Cure Monday, March 2.

Palm Beach County is the first in the state to go after federal grants for rural transportation. Cure told about 20 persons who attended a public hearing in the Glades Office Building's Bryant Auditorium.

Grant approval is expected in early April and JAKE VARN (right), new Department of Transportation Secretary, was in this area Friday, Feb. 27, getting acquainted first hand with road needs in the Glades.

New DOT secretary Jake Varn makes personal inspection

By JIM JONES

After inspecting roads in the Belle Glade, Pahokee, and South Bay areas, new Department of Transportation Secretary Jake Varn lunched with local political and business leaders and promised only fairness and straight talk Friday, Feb. 27.

Though Varn made no pledges to pump new road construction money into the Glades area, his visit was seen as an encouraging sign by many who lunched with him at the Glades Sugar House.

Varn was taken by motorcar for a bumpy inspection of some of the area's worst roads and by helicopter as far south as Talisman sugar, said County Commissioner Bill Bailey.

Varn said that he now realizes the Glades area has three problems unique to this area: 1. Most roads are built through muck areas, 2. There is no nearby deposits of road base materials, and 3. Many roads are built next to canals, providing a built-in safety problem.

Current state road priorities include completion of the interstate road system and maintenance of the existing primary road system, Varn said.

A shortage of money is a primary problem. Florida has decided to undertake no more projects requiring 100 percent state funding. Federal funding assistance on state projects is necessary, but many state roads fail to qualify for federal funding assistance because they do not meet federal specifications, Varn said.

Friday's luncheon, co-hosted by the Sugar Cane Growers Cooperative and the Palm Beach County Farm Bureau, attracted a blue-chip group of leaders. Among them were State Senator Tom Lewis, County Commissioners Frank Foster, Norm Gregory and Bill Bailey, County Administrator John Sansbury, Belle Glade Mayor Tom Altman, Pahokee Mayor Mona R. Norman, former Pahokee Mayor Duncan Padgett, George Wedgeworth of Wedgeworth Farms, Franklin Jones, chairman of the Canal Hazards Committee, and Marvin Unwin, past chairman of the same committee.

To meet the goal of completing the interstate highway system and to maintain the road system, more money is needed, Varn said. "Where is that money coming from? Everyone in Tallahassee recognizes the need for additional money for transportation," he said.

If the state can get $1 billion a year, it can meet the governor's priorities, Varn said, conceding that some programs, including bridge maintenance are badly neglected or "non-existent."

Responding to a comment by Franklin Jones about adding and then dropping Glades roads from the DOT priority list, Varn agreed there should be no "inkering" with priorities once set.

He predicted that one of the biggest issues and

NEW BELLE GLADE City Manager Rolfe Wagner was in town Friday, Feb. 27, with his wife, Glenda, to discuss his role in government here.

City manager meets media

BY JIM JONES

BELLE GLADE—New Belle Glade City Manager Rolfe H. Wagner, 50, met with representatives of the local media Friday, Feb. 27 to outline his role in government as he sees it.

Wagner said he planned to take action to conservatively administer the budget, would give his immediate attention to the HUD grant, and to the 201 wastewater plan.

Wagner declined to be too specific with his plans, however, as he is still city manager of North Bay Village. Under his contract with North Bay Village, Wagner is required to give 90 days notice prior to his departure.

He said he had asked for a waiver of any portion of the 90 days that North Palm Beach Commissioners would grant, but would not predict their response. "I don't anticipate anything from elected officials," he said.

Belle Glade City Commissioners are expected to take final action on Wagner's application Monday, March 9, at their regular meeting.

Fifty-two teachers from the local elementary school participated in the workshop.

delivery of the buses is anticipated in about 15 months. Two 40-foot, 46 passenger coaches at a cost of $300,000 and two 30-foot, 31 passenger buses at a cost of $220,000 would be purchased with the proposed grant, Cure said. A portion of the grant would also be used to pay for operating costs. Palm Beach County would be required to match the grant with $338,794, and the Florida Department of Transportation would have to ante up $57,770 if the grant is approved, making the total value of the package $1.1 million.

A second hearing will be held March 17 at 10 a.m. in the main courthouse in West Palm Beach.

A number of area residents spoke at Monday night's hearing, expressing their views on current service provided by CoTran.

Darrel Chambers of Belle Glade said that he recently took a CoTran bus to the coast and had to wait seven hours for a return ride. "We can go, but we can't come back," he said, asking if additional buses and bus runs would result from the grant.

"You would probably see an increase in trips between the coast and the glades as a result of this grant," Cure said, adding that one major employer, Quaker Oats, had already asked for more service.

Wiley Tillis of Pahokee objected to idea of pursuing federal grants, calling them a symptom of "sickness" in the country, which has abled-bodied men standing on street corners, rather than working.

Tillis said normally no more than three people ride the bus in Pahokee, and he has seen as few as one.

"Where does it come from?" Tillis asked of federal grants. He then answered his own question, "From the taxpayer's pockets of course."

Clara Bedsole of Belle Glade said that while it's true that buses are sometimes seen nearly empty in this area, "there is no place to sit" on return confrontations will come in the next legislative session when legislators start adjusting priorities.

"Frankly, it takes a lot of heat off me if they do it," Varn said. "It's a bucket of worms."

Despite the DOT's problems, Varn said he is used to working in thankless jobs, citing his most recent experience with the Department of Environmental Regulation.

"It's nice being in a position to tell people they can do something, rather than telling them they can't do something," he said.

Varn said he would be spending the first six months trying to straighten out DOT affairs in Tallahassee and did not plan any immediate changes at district level.

Varn said that though he intends to be "boss" in the DOT, "I don't have a hit list."

The biggest problem with Tallahassee is that officials become isolated and they don't "shoot straight with you. We need more people who tell it like it is. There aren't too many peaches, rosy situations out there."

Though Varn made no promises for quick relief, Franklin Jones rated the trip a success. "It's great to get him down here and get him acquainted with our problems," he said. "I think we got our points acrossed."

One of the points stressed heaviest to Varn was that State Road 90 is a cross state highway, rather than a county route.

Mayor Tom Altman said no date has been set for Wagner to go on the city payroll. Wagner later said he would not allow himself to be placed on the city payroll until he takes on the city manager's duties here fulltime.

Wagner said that he is an honest public servant and would have to sell his house in North Bay Village before he could afford to buy another one in Belle Glade.

From 1976 until 1980, Wagner was city manager of Coolidge, Ariz., a rural cotton-producing community. Wagner said that coming to Belle Glade is "like coming home."

"The manager always gets his background thoroughly checked. I do the same. The city doesn't have a bad reputation," he said.

How I See It

by Alma Henry

Look for a busy March

March is going to be a busy month. The Association for Retarded Citizens Glades Area is planning a massive media and community awareness program during the month of March. March is National Retardation Month and the local ARC is planning a number of activities to coincide with activities planned by the National ARC office in their campaign to make the general public aware of the services offered to "special citizens" in our community. The local and national ARC is also planning to share information with organizations and individuals who do not know of the services these "special citizens" are entitled to as citizens of U.S.

The local ARC needs your support. During the month of March the local ARC is planning a number of special activities to highlight the programs offered to the citizens in the Glades.

Local ARC students will be participating in the Special Olympics Spring Games to be held in Lake Worth on Feb. 14 and also on the same day the local ARC will be sponsoring its Second Annual Super Skate at Glades Skate World.

All proceeds from the affair will go directly to the local chapter.

Why not participate and give Hope.

The Glades Executive Board of the Glades Festival of Afro Arts and the Zeta Phi Beta Sorority, Inc., is sponsoring its Second Annual Glades Festival of Afro Arts Saturday, March 21 at the Lake Shore Park Complex.

Many activities have been planned for the occasion. A parade will kick off the day's festivities. The executive Board and Mrs. Celsa Monroe, their festival chairman will love your support.

On Mar. 28 the Black & Gold Jubilee Bowling Tournament will be held at Triangle Bowling Lanes. This event is just one of the many activities the Black & Gold community is sponsoring prior to Black Gold Days, April 10 through 12.

The Mu Rho Omega Chapter of Alpha Kappa Alpha Sorority, Inc., is sponsoring its Second Annual Business Forum on Saturday, March 28 beginning at 11 a.m.

Many local businesses and public service organizations will be displaying their wares at the local forum. The forum is a chance for you to get to know your local business persons and the services they offer.

The Glades Ebonique Ladies Club is planning its Fourth annual Officers Installation Mar. 29. The GELS have invited the public to attend this event.

You can begin the month of March by attending the El Dorado Civic Club's first annual Togetherness Tea to be held at the Lake Shore Civic Center Cunday at 3 p.m.

Many local clubs and societies will have displays at the tea.

I look forward to seeing you there.

A new entertainment night spot is coming to the Glades. Watch out for the opening date in March. I understand it's going to be different and will offer one of the Glades most unique light shows.

Letter to the Editor

Dear Editor:

I have to agree with your February 12 editorial that "perhaps Pahokee residents are being a little self-righteous and reactionary." However, I expect that the Prince Theater Foundation has the right to decide what shall or shall not be performed in the Prince Theater.

The Foundation could have avoided all the controversy (and ought to in the future) by setting a policy on selecting plays and/or other types of entertainment.

This selection policy should address such questions as: (1) What criteria will be used to accept or reject a play? (2) Who will have the right to read and decide what is accepted or rejected? (3) At what stage of production will the decision be made?

Perhaps we should forgive the Foundation for the faux pas of changing its mind after the play was already in rehearsal since this is the first time. But next time, the Foundation should take a better organized, more professional and fairer approach.

Sincerely yours,
Janean Campanaro

LIBRARIAN Phyllis Lilley displays one of 43 panels on Journalism now in the Belle Glade Public Library. The display, prepared by the Florida Museum of History in Tallahassee, covers journalism from its beginnings until the current era. The exhibit opened Monday and will remain in Belle Glade until April 3. Library hours are 10 a.m. to 9 p.m. Monday through Thursday, 10 a.m. till 6 p.m. Fridays, and 10 a.m. till 5 p.m. Saturdays.

Physician, help thyself

New physicians were discouraged by two local agencies last Tuesday but the circumstances surrounding the rejections were as different as night and day.

The Glades General Hospital Board correctly gave a polite "Thanks but no, thanks" answer when two doctors announced, out of the goodness of their hearts, they were interested in setting up a new clinic. If the board would only guarantee them $75,000 each for the next year.

But, Pahokee City Councilman George Rashley provided a vivid demonstration the same night of an attitude the city could easily do without when he took Building Inspector Phelix Slonaker to task for allowing Dr. Jaime Motta to move his practice into the building at 3178 Bacom Point Rd., especially since that was for years the building that housed the offices of Dr. G.B. Walker before his death.

The Glades General board had good and sufficient reason for the action they took, reasons voiced eloquently by Dr. Luis Guerrero.

Dr. Guerrero pointed out that there are other Physicians already practicing in the area who don't take home $75,000 a year. "It would be a slap in the face for those doctors and to the free enterprise system," he said.

We don't have the figures on the income of local doctors so we can't back up Dr. Guerrero's claim about how much they make, but it doesn't really matter if the lowest paid doctor in the area were earning and taking home $750,000 a year, he still made an excellent point.

While it may be to the benefit of the Glades to encourage new physicians, that encouragement shouldn't include a guarantee of income to those physicians, when they don't make direct contributions to the hospital.

It was, as pointed out by Glades General Administrator Pat Lennon, an unreasonable package offer and the board was correct in turning it down.

But the action taken by the Pahokee City Council when it opened the door to a new prohibition against allowing doctors to set up their practices in their homes, or in other residential buildings, assuming certain reasonable requirements such as the provision of adequate off-street parking, was just as unreasonable.

That off-street parking is available at Dr. Motta's clinic and it's hard to figure out Mr. Rashley's objections.

Health care is an absolute requirement for any community and, health care with out physicians is an absurdity. Physicians in small towns have traditionally installed their offices in residential areas and, until someone can come up with a good reason to put an end to the tradition, they should be allowed to continue the practice.

Good luck to Dean Jones

A pillar of the Herald-Observer and of our entire organization is leaving us this week. Editor Dean Jones, after more than eight years with the Herald-Observer, Dean is leaving to assume a reporter's job with the Palm Beach Evening Times. His last articles for us appear in this issue.

Reporters come and go in any newspaper group. Turnover is high in our profession, Dean's long tenure with this outfit was unique and his absence from our offices will be painful and unusual.

Though cantankerous at times, the simple reason Dean survived here so long is that he was so good. He is a terrific newsman, getting scoops for the Herald-Observer nearly every week. Dean made the other newsmen in our area look just plain silly with his unparalleled coverage of the region.

That's one reason why we'll miss him here. Good reporters can be found, but an institution like Deano comes around seldom. He was always pushing deadlines and the production department to their limits, but the first-class stories he came up with as a result were worth it. It's a cliché, but Dean, by golly, has a nose for news, and that's gonna be missed here.

His boisterous wit will be missed too. As Dean has pointed out several times, he is not a member of the Moral Majority, he's a charter member of the Immoral Majority!

We gave Dean a going-away party Friday, his last day. We all expressed our gratitude and affection for Mr. Jones. But it just doesn't seem like it's enough. Dean's presence at the Herald-Observer is eight years long, and, reporting aside, we hate to see the man go.

But, it's not like he's going to be leaving the area. He'll still be covering the Glades for the Times. Our loss is the Times' gain and luckily, the Glades will still have Dean Jones to kick around some more.

Good luck Dean, from all of us. Don't forget your dashboard.

New Kid In Town

One thing that makes me feel better about Dean's leaving is that the Editor of the Clewiston News (another paper in our group), Jim Jones (no relation) will be assuming editing duties here.

I worked with Jim last August as a reporter. Pound for pound, I know of no journalist who covers more territory than Jim. He's literally a superhuman worker.

Welcome him to the staff. The Herald-Observer is remaining in good hands.

Saying so long is hard to do

"Do a goodbye column," the man says. "I didn't really want to do a goodbye column." I respond, "Goodbye columns are about as schmaltzy as 'Hello' columns and they're the only thing worse than holiday columns. If you don't have anything better to say than goodbye, you might as well hang up and let the other party listen to the dial tone.

Besides, by the time this hits the streets, I'll already be gone bye-bye from the Herald-Observer staff and putting in my first week at the Evening Times and I was always under the impression you say goodbyes before you leave.

Besides, I'm only going across town. It ain't as though I were pulling up stakes and heading for South Dakota, for God's sake, as if anybody would leave here to go to South Dakota any way other than in front of the business end of a cocked and loaded 12 gauge shotgun held by a determined and angry citizen.

Besides, I could keep this up all night but I promise it'll be the last "besides" who the hell cares whether I write a goodbye column besides my vast readership of two (Thanks, Ma. Thanks, boss.). Come to think of it, who cares if I go?

The fact is, for those who haven't figured it out yet, or who haven't heard about the move and for some reason (business comes to mind) are interested in the professional moves of a gone-to-pot newsman, this will be the last edition of Cracker Crumbs for the Herald-Observer.

It ends something like seven years or more of a relationship between my name and my look-alike friend up there (The only difference is I smoke cigarettes instead of a pipe) in the column sig., probably much to the relief of readers who've complained bitterly about the waste of ink every week.

Last Monday (or it will be by the time you read this, genelt reader), I will have gone (or went). God, this is getting confusing. The only thing you gotta remember is that this was written last week, so even if you're reading it Thursday, the date on the masthead, whatever that is, I went to work Monday, whenever that was, at a new job but I wrote this last week, whenever I did, or am doing, that, to work for the Evening Times and you can find me toiling in the ink stained vineyards there, wherever that is and whenever this is that you're reading this.

So this is a swan song, as off key as ever.

It's been a long tenure, this last eight years and six months. I've never held any other job as long as I've been with the Herald-Observer but time sure do fly when you're having fun, don't it?

It's the first time I've ever written anything for the purpose of providing anything other than straight news...little humor (so all right, it's been damn little) in Cracker Crumbs and my opinion in the form of the column and editorials which also represented the newspaper's opinion. If I've managed to sway someone else's opinion about things in the world in general and the Glades in particular on a few occasions, I don't guess it can be considered a total bust.

And if I've managed, even on the odd week, to give meaning to the Herald-Observer's brag on the masthead about being the Voice of the Glades, that's even better.

When I was transferred to the Glades to run a bureau for the Palm Beach Post, it was only over violent objections and kicking and screaming all the way. I had been living in Fort Pierce for a year before that and I was happy there, then yew. Besides, who wanted to leave the beaches there to come out and live with a bunch of farmers?

Well, when I got here, I found I wasn't any more popular with the mucksteppers than they were with me but I figured I was stuck and the only thing to do was try to get along...at least until I could find something else.

After the two reporters who'd preceded me in the Post's bureau office here in Belle Glade, the only way I found I could get along was to let people know I wasn't going to be anybody's public relations man but I wasn't a hatchman either, so if they'd give me a chance, I'd try to prove I could report the news as fairly as possible.

They gave me the chance, even if I did get the impression they were more wary than welcoming, and 15 months later, I came on board the Herald, as it was known then.

That was ten years ago, give or take a couple months, and I long ago came to the conclusion I'm not going anywhere. Matter of fact, I may still be considered a newcomer by a lot of people but it's also been a long time since I discovered I'm just another one of those Glades mucksteppers.

So, what can I tell you? I said goodbye columns are schmaltzy, didn't I?

and Lomax Harrell as the acting city manager and Virginia Walker the city clerk.

Vice-mayor Sullivan said he was "well pleased with the South Bay officials and would not want to change any one of them."

In other action before the Commission:

- The Commission agreed to grant Jones Interchange a five percent rate increase.

In a letter to the commission Jones Interchange said due to the increase cost of fuel and equipment the local cable television business was requesting the rate increase.

Mayor Tanner said the present agreement the city has with Jones Interchange only allows for not more than a five percent increase per year and a 15 percent increase over a three-year period.

Tanner said the increase will take the present rate charge from $8.65 per month to $9.50.

Commissioner Sammy Roder Rogers said the cable company had not kept its agreement to improve services, voted against the increase.

- Passed a resolution to pay James Gann, the city attorney, $6,035 in attorney fees for his work on the bond issue.

- Agreed to purchase a full page ad in the El Dorado Civic Club Fourth annual Sickle Cell Anemia souvenir program booklet.

- Passed a resolution naming the First Marine Bank of Riviera Beach as the depository for the funds for the bond issue.

- Passed a resolution supporting David Bludworth, state attorney in his attempt to get the news media to publish the names and addresses of persons convicted of felonies.

Police Chief Burroughs

also asked the Commission to support Bludworth's attempt to change a state statute that prevents the release of names of minors to the news media. The Commission agreed to pass a resolution supporting both proposals.

Mayor Tanner also asked the citizens of South Bay to request home delivery mail services.

Tanner said the Postmaster said if home deliveries are not requested the service will be discontinued in the near future.

Tanner said the mail boxes must be located near the road and contain the name and address of the occupancy.

It's batter up for the defending champions

By DEAN JONES
BELLE GLADE-It's "batter up" time for the defending District 11A baseball champions when

Christian Day School takes on Pahokee's Class AA Blue Devils at 3:30 p.m. Friday in Pahokee. Crusader coach Gus

Harman said last week Christian Day faces a tougher schedule this year, and even though his team is basically the same as last year's version, he was cautious enough to only wish to repeat last year's 13 wins. But he said his chances are sky high and the school is buzzing with talk of going "on to State". Considering the Crusaders dropped the regional championship game last year by one run, in the bottom of the tenth, and the fact the Crusaders didn't lose a single player through graduation, and won't lose one this year either for that matter, a reasonable amount of confidence would be expected.

On the other hand, Harman said he was looking at tougher competition from Glades Day School's Gators, Moore Haven and St. Edwards this year in District 11 competition however, and the school is also playing a larger number of Class AA schools such as Pahokee and Labele.

And while it won't count on the regular season record, Harman must have felt confident enough in his team that the regular season opposition didn't supply sufficient competition.

With the help of a little finagling on his part, Harman and the Crusaders will be the only Class A school entering a team in a special tournament beginning April 1 for junior varsity Class AAAA teams at Palm Beach Junior College.

The other 11 teams in the tournament, being organized by PBJC baseball coach Dusty Rhodes, will all be Class AAAA junior varsity teams of the South Florida area, where Harman said the best high school baseball in the state is played.

Once the season starts for the Crusaders, the floodgates open, with the second game of the season being played at John Stretch Park in Lake Harbor (the Crusader's home field) against St. Edwards at 11 a.m. and Tuesday, Mar. 10 in a game against Moore Haven.

Harman said the leading batter from the last year was Kent Davis, with a .377 average. He said he has several other batters in the low .300s.

William Cruz leads the pitching stable of Christian Day. Last year, Cruz won eight games and had an earned run average of only .200. Cruz is backed up by Alex Morales with an ERA of 3.43. Jose Martinez, Luis Garcia Warren Gibson (a new player who transferred from Glades Central) and Tracy Chealy.

"I think the key to a winning season this year," Harman said, "will be to see if we can reduce the number of field and mental errors we committed last year. We were a young team last year though and we'll see if a year's maturity will help."

The other members of the team include Jesus Armas, Tony Duboy, Robert Echols, Tavi Garcia, James Barnwell, Murrel Liverman and Jesus Armas.

The managers are Jorge Martinez and Angel Matos. The assistant coach will be Eddie Cunningham and the statistician will be Jan Bottoms.

Pahokee beats Clewiston for district

WALTER JOHNSON (40) muscles in for Pahokee to attempt a close-in shot against Clewiston's Cubby Woodard (54) Saturday, Feb. 28. Pahokee won the game and the district championship.

By JIM JONES

Pahokee High School utterly dominated Clewiston in the third quarter action Saturday, Feb. 28, to win the Class 2A, District 15 boys varsity basketball championship 56-52.

Pahokee, now 18-6 on the year, will face Dearborn Saturday, March 7, at 8 p.m. in Blue Devil Gymnasium for the regional championship. Should Pahokee win the game, it would be all probability face unbeaten Avon Park in the sectional match. That game would be played at Avon Park.

Pahokee outscored Clewiston 26-2 in the third quarter, to put the game out of reach. Clewiston had closed to within 10 points of Pahokee at the end of the first half. The district playoffs were held in LaBelle this year.

"We were taking a lot of chances in the first half," Blue Devil Coach Eddie Rhodes said. "We decided to settle down and stop making so many mistakes. As a whole, the defense was the answer to it."

Pahokee had beaten Bishop Verot and Immokalee to gain its berth in the finals against Clewiston. Immokalee had been ranked in the state polls most of the year, but the unranked Blue Devils beat the Indians in all three of their games.

"This team is a little better offensively, but not as aggressive," Rhodes said in comparing this year's squad to his team which advanced into the state playoffs two years ago. Walter Johnson led the Blue Devils in scoring with 17 points, while Calvin Fountain, Terrance Banks, and Andre Cooper had 14 each and Boris Banks had 10.

Al Johnson, Clewiston's standout forward-guard, led the Tigers in scoring as he has most of the season with 22 points. Most of his scoring came in the first half. At one point, it looked like Johnson might be unable to play in the second half due to illness.

Kenny Blackman had 14 points to account for Clewiston's only other substantial scoring. Clewiston trailed by as much as 16 points in the first half, but by going to a full court press, against Pahokee's second unit players with about four minutes left, Clewiston cut its deficit to 10.

The only bright spots in the third quarter belonged to Pahokee's marksmen who sliced the nets from everywhere on the court. Clewiston Coach Robbie Hicklin said his young team looks to the future and is satisfied with the district runner up trophy. Clewiston lost most of its state playoff basketball team last year to graduation. Only Al Johnson was a returning starter this year.

Clewiston 10 23 2 17-52
Pahokee 25 19 26 26-36
Total fouls - Clewiston 20, Pahokee 11. Fouled out - Woodard. Technical fouls - none.

Glades Day loses to Moore Haven

By Scott Ellis
Getting blown out in what Coach Tom Schmidt called a "debacle," Glades Day ended its season with a defeat Friday night in the District Tournament versus Moore Haven, 57-35.

Moore Haven, seeded third in the tourney, knocked off second-seeded Glades Day. The quarter to catch up—try to steal the ball and such. We were unsuccessful and they just socked it to us in that last period," Schmidt said.

Finishing with a 16-9 record, Schmidt termed his squad's season "fairly successful." "Overall, I'm not disappointed with the efforts of the boys. They've won 33 games in the last two years...which is a pretty good accomplishment," Schmidt said.

"We lose four starters to graduation next year (Ross, Schiele, Swager and Shelton), but I'm optimistic about next year. We had a lot of boys on the JV team who are coming off good years. But you never know."

The Gators started off the District tourney with a win over Indian River Thursday, 56-26. Leading scorers were Dan Ross, Jason Shelton and Greg Chancey, each with 12 points. Leading rebounders were Tom Swager and Oscar Toledo, who each got 10.

Others scoring were Swager and Schiele with 10 apiece; Tom Wilson, 8; Jorge Rodriguez, Toledo and Scott Meredith, 6 each; Andy Fontaine, 4; and Ralph Garcia, 2.

Versus the Terriers, Swager led in rebounds (11) and scoring (13). Next in points were Ross, 9; Chancey, 7; Schiele, 6.

Softball coaches to meet

BELLE GLADE—There will be a meeting of all softball coaches interested in playing in the Belle Glade City Softball League this spring and summer.

The meeting will be held at 7 p.m., Mar. 12 in Conference Room B at city hall.

Former resident killed

MARIANNA—Frank William Holley of Ponce de Leon formerly of Belle Glade was killed on Feb. 26 when the tractor-trailer rig he was driving collided with another tractor-trailer and burned at the intersection of U.S. 231 and Interstate 10 in Marianna.

Holley was trapped inside his burning logging truck. Holley was Jackson County's first traffic fatality of the year.

The driver of the second semi rig, John Doyle Lang, 25, of Lake City managed to escape the flames, but was seriously injured and was taken to Jackson County Hospital in Marianna.

According to Florida Highway Patrol reports, the Lang truck had left I-10 and turned into 231 into the path of Holley's vehicle. The two trucks collided and caught fire, coming to rest on the median of 231.

Holley who moved from Belle Glade in 1972 is survived by his wife, Mrs. Margene Holley of Ponce de Leon, also formerly of Belle Glade; seven children and two grandchildren. One of Holley's sons, Danny Holley presently lives in Belle Glade.

Holley is also survived by a brother Charles Holley of Belle Glade, three sisters; his father, Dan Holley of Ponce de Leon and his in-laws, Mr. and Mrs. E.B. McSwain of Belle Glade.

Funeral services were held Sunday, Mar. 1 at the Mt. Zion Church of Ponce de Leon. Burial was at an adjoining church cemetery.

How I avoided high salt and becoming waterlogged

Most people I know have the strangest ways of relieving tension. One of the newest ways is called "floatation tank". I was reading about it the other day and it struck me as kind of "interesting" shall we say? For $25 you get into a wooden box filled with 98-degree water to which 100 pounds of salt has been added, then for the next few hours you float in darkness and get in touch with your feelings.

Exciting, isn't it? You can lie there all afternoon getting in touch with your feeling and not have to worry about walking the dog, feeding the kids or who is stealing Mary's husband on your favorite soap.

It is really not new at all. Sound just like a hot tub to me with just an extra 100 pounds of salt added. But, it is the answer they advertise. The answer to what? you may ask.

ANITA ADAMS
SHORT STUFF

The answer to backaches, footaches, boredom, depression, and tension.

Those kind of stress relieving products never helped me at all. I would get into the tub just in time for the phone to ring or the doorbell to ring. I'd get in, close my eyes and just about the time I was ready to get in touch with my feelings, the family dog would decide he wanted to join me. I could never get my mind on floating, either. Every time I start to imagine myself floating, I would sink to the bottom again. Life is hard. The most annoying is when I would have to get out and answer the door. Change clothes see who it was, then start all over again. It is like constantly waking up from self-hypnosis.

After a while I stopped trying to relieve tension by artificial means. I changed my mind and decided a hot bath with 100 pounds of salt would get me waterlogged and give me high blood pressure, not relieve my tension. Why not go jogging or join an exercise class?

Some say I am too practical. I just like to do things the simple way. The other day my girlfriend said her pet frog was getting fat and she had to put him on a special diet and feed him a special kind of "frog food." I asked her why she just didn't feed him less. Makes sense, doesn't it?

It don't have very much tension in my life, but I think I may be one of the prime ones who cause it.

Belle Glade police log

Belle Glade police officers arrested Nidust Campbell, 39, Monday, March 2, and charged him with four offenses, stemming from his alleged public misconduct. Bond was set at $5,000.

Campbell was observed standing in the street near the 100 block of 5th Street about 8:49 p.m., trying to stop traffic.

Campbell resisted arrest and tussled with arresting officers. He was charged with disorderly conduct, two counts of battery on a police officer, and inciting or encouraging a riot.

Other items on the Belle Glade arrest blotter included:

• Nathan Small, 26, was charged with unlawful blood alcohol and possession of a controlled substance March 1. Bond was set at $1,050.

Small was observed driving erratically on State Road 715 at Avenue E leading to his arrest. Seven unknown pills were confiscated and sent to the Palm Beach County Crime Lab for analysis.

• William Walker was arrested on warrants March 1. Walker was sought for violation of probation, resisting arrest without violence, driving without a valid drivers license, and sale of marijuana. Bond was set at $1,575.

• Ernest Leon Naylor, 34, was arrested near the loading ramp on the 400 block of Southwest 5th Street Feb. 28, after he was observed acting in a suspicious manner. He was charged with dealing in stolen property, grand theft, and possession of a firearm by a convicted felon. Naylor allegedly had firearms in his possession which had been stolen from Dade County.

• Howard Bates was arrested on warrants Feb. 28 and charged with trespass after warning, and three counts of sale of marijuana. Bond was set at $4,710.

Not on the arrest blotter, but under investigation by the police department is the Feb. 27 assault on a Belle Glade Elementary School migrant teacher.

The woman was apparently followed into the school about 7:10 a.m. and beaten by two black males. Nothing was reported stolen. Police are still investigating the case.

KEEPING THE FAITH

BY THE REV. JOE ED MCGAHEY
Community United Methodist Church

"From that time Jesus Christ began to show His disciples that He must go to Jerusalem and suffer many things from the elders and chief priests and scribes, and be killed, and be raised up on the third day." Matt. 16:21

Yesterday, (Wednesday, March 4) was Ash Wednesday, or the first day of Lent. This is a time when we turn our attention to the Cross and then on Easter to the Resurrection.

Our text was spoken by Jesus probably about six months before the Cross. He had been alone with the twelve to teach them and to increase their understanding of who He was and is. For even though they came to have a practical idea about Jesus being the Messiah almost from the beginning, it was a very limited understanding. In fact early in his same conversation Simon Peter had declared to Jesus "Thou art the Messiah (Christ) the Son of the Living God."

However, even though Peter and the other apostles began to understand who Jesus was and (in) they still did not understand His purpose and ministry. In fact, they did not understand this until after the resurrection. Now this was not because Jesus did not tell them, because He did! He told them again and again. They just would not understand.

Sometimes, we still do not understand the coming of Jesus Christ into the world. For unless we understand the centrality of the cross not only for Jesus, but as the center of our own faith we do not really understand His gift of salvation, brought by the Cross. After the resurrection, the early church understood this and this was the center of all preaching.

When one turns into the Book of Acts and there reads the sermons preached, the cross was always the primary emphasis. When Peter preached on the day of Pentecost what was his subject? Jesus Christ, crucified for the sin of man and risen from the dead to give the saved eternal life. And whenever we hear Peter preaching in Acts that is his message.

Lent is one of the times we give a stronger than usual emphasis on the cross. It will be as we understand Jesus' death on the cross, that Easter will have more meaning to us.

LOOK INTO A MIRROR

Some people claim that they can match husbands and their wives in any large group. It is true that many couples seem to resemble each other the longer they live together.

Children often resemble their parents both in looks and actions. Although many times parents try to hide it, children are often merely reflections of our own. We need not look into a mirror to observe our likeness. Watch the children. They are miniature replicas of us.

Among humans this tendency to imitate may not always be for the good. But the Heavenly Father wants His children to be like Him. He has given us an example to follow. Our lives should reflect the actions, talk and attitudes of Jesus Christ. The more time we spend worshipping Him, the better replicas of Him we become. That is a good reason for worshipping together this week.
